ACPA Names Sipherd as Honorary Life Member

The American Concrete Pavement Association (ACPA) presented an honorary lifetime membership to Chapin Sipherd, recently retired Vice President of Concrete Applications, Terex Roadbuilding/CMI.

The award bestows full rights and privileges of ACPA membership to Sipherd and places him in an elite category with fewer than 20 other individuals recognized for their life-long contributions and meritorious service to the concrete pavement industry and the ACPA.

In presenting the honorary life member award, ACPA recognized Sipherd – Chape to his friends – as a civil engineer, contractor, designer, inventor, and teacher promoter of concrete pavement for more than four decades. Sipherd also was recognized as the author of “Ten Commandments of Concrete Paving,” a publication still used widely throughout the industry.

ACPA also recognized Sipherd for his tireless, unswerving, and convincing advocacy for quality concrete pavements. As an active supporter of ACPA, he participating in committees, task forces, and other efforts to expand the concrete pavement market, provide excellent technical service, and improve the quality of concrete pavements.

ACPA's members include paving contractors, cement companies, equipment manufacturers, material and service suppliers, ready-mixed concrete producers, allied associations/organizations, bonding and insurance companies, consulting firms, and other allied organizations and individuals.
